

India's Predicted Playing XI for Their Opening Match of Asia Cup 2025

As the Asia Cup 2025 approaches, the buzz around India's squad and playing XI is growing louder. With a pool of experienced stars and emerging youngsters, the team management faces the tough task of striking the right balance. Let's take a look at India's predicted playing XI for their opening match of the tournament.

Openers

Rohit Sharma and Shubman Gill are the most likely choices to open. Rohit brings unmatched experience in multi-nation tournaments, while Gill's form and consistency make him the perfect partner at the top.

Middle Order

At No. 3, Virat Kohli remains India's backbone, despite talks about his long-term future. His ability to anchor innings in pressure situations makes him indispensable. Suryakumar

Yadav should slot in at No. 4, offering innovation and quick acceleration in the middle overs. Shreyas Iyer could follow, adding stability against spin-heavy oppositions.

Wicketkeeper-Batters

India has a selection dilemma here, but Rishabh Pant is likely to take the gloves after his impressive return, with KL Rahul serving as a flexible option in case of team balance requirements.

All-Rounders

Hardik Pandya is almost certain to play a dual role. His batting power in the lower middle order and bowling versatility make him vital. Alongside him, Ravindra Jadeja offers left-hand batting depth and crucial spin options.

Bowlers

The pace attack will likely be spearheaded by Jasprit Bumrah, supported by Mohammed Siraj. Both bring pace, swing, and wicket-taking abilities in the powerplay and death overs. In the spin department, Kuldeep Yadav seems the front-runner, providing variety with his wrist-spin.

Predicted XI

Rohit Sharma (C), Shubman Gill, Virat Kohli, Suryakumar Yadav, Shreyas Iyer, Rishabh Pant (WK), Hardik Pandya, Ravindra Jadeja, Kuldeep Yadav, Jasprit Bumrah, Mohammed Siraj.

Final Word

India's squad looks strong on paper, with a good mix of youth and experience. The opening match of the Asia Cup 2025 will set the tone for their campaign, and this XI has the potential to dominate right from the

Also Read: India Playing 11 For Asia Cup 2025 1st Match