

Ballon d'Or 2025: What to Expect, Favourites to Win & Live Streaming Details

The countdown to the Ballon d'Or 2025 has begun, and excitement is already building around football's most prestigious individual award. Every year, the Ballon d'Or recognizes the best footballer in the world based on performances for both club and country. With several stars shining brightly in the past season, the competition this year promises to be intense.

What to Expect

The ceremony will once again bring together football's finest talents under one roof, celebrating extraordinary performances. Fans can expect glitz, glamour, and heartfelt moments as legends of the game present awards to the next generation of greats. The big question remains: will a familiar face lift the golden ball again, or will we see a new name etched in history?

Favourites to Win

A few names have already emerged as strong contenders:

- Kylian Mbappé – After another outstanding season with his lightning pace and match-winning goals, the French forward is a top favourite.
- Erling Haaland – The Norwegian striker's incredible scoring record continues to keep him among the frontrunners.

Also Read:- Dembele and Bonmati win Ballon d'Or 2025

- Lionel Messi & Cristiano Ronaldo – Though both are in the twilight of their careers, their impact remains undeniable, and a late flourish in 2025 could see them back in contention.
- Jude Bellingham – The young English midfielder has been a revelation, combining goals, assists, and leadership well beyond his years.

Live Streaming Details

Fans across the globe will be eager to tune in live. The event will be broadcast on major sports networks and official digital platforms, ensuring fans can watch the ceremony from anywhere. Online streaming services will also provide coverage, making it easy to follow the awards in real time on mobile and desktop devices.

Final Thoughts

The Ballon d'Or 2025 isn't just about statistics—it's about influence, big-match performances, and unforgettable moments. Whether it's Mbappé continuing his dominance, Haaland breaking more records, or a surprise winner emerging, this year's race is set to keep football fans on edge until the very last announcement.

Related Article:- 2025 Ballon d'Or Live