

NZ-W vs PAK-W, ICC Women's World Cup 2025: Match Prediction, Toss Forecast, Top Run-Scorers, Leading Wicket-Takers & Player of the Match

As the ICC Women's World Cup 2025 heats up, New Zealand Women (NZ-W) are set to face Pakistan Women (PAK-W) in a crucial group-stage encounter that could shape the semi-final race. Both teams have shown flashes of brilliance but have struggled with consistency – making this matchup one of the most unpredictable clashes of the tournament.

Toss Forecast

The toss will play a vital role at the Eden Park in Auckland, where early morning conditions often favor the seamers. Historically, teams batting second have found success due to dew and a flattening pitch later in the evening. Both captains will likely look to bowl first and chase under lights, taking advantage of the improved batting conditions in the second innings.

Match Prediction

New Zealand entered this game slightly ahead in terms of overall balance and experience. With home conditions on their side and a strong batting lineup led by Suzie Bates, Sophie Devine, and Amelia Kerr, the White Ferns are expected to have the upper hand. Pakistan, however, have been resilient – their bowlers like Fatima Sana and Nashra Sandhu have the ability to trouble any batting order if they get early breakthroughs.

Expect Pakistan to rely heavily on their top order – especially Muneeba Ali and Bismah Maroof – to put up a competitive total. However, New Zealand's all-round depth gives them an edge in tight situations.

Top Run-Scorers Prediction

Sophie Devine and Amelia Kerr are the frontrunners for New Zealand, both in sublime form. For Pakistan, Sidra Ameen is the one to watch – she's been their most consistent performer in the tournament.

Leading Wicket-Takers Prediction

Lea Tahuhu's pace and swing make her a dangerous weapon for New Zealand, while Nashra Sandhu's spin could be Pakistan's trump card on a slowing surface.

Player of the Match Forecast

Amelia Kerr stands out as the prime candidate for the Player of the Match award, thanks to her all-round brilliance and ability to turn games single-handedly.
