

WWE Raw Highlights: CM Punk vs. LA Knight vs. Jey Uso, Seth Rollins Betrayed by Bron Breakker & Bronson Reed, and More

Another explosive episode of WWE Raw unfolded this week, bringing unexpected twists, jaw-dropping betrayals, and intense in-ring action. From a high-stakes triple threat match featuring CM Punk, LA Knight, and Jey Uso to shocking alliances and betrayals, Raw delivered a rollercoaster of emotions that fans won't soon forget.

CM Punk vs. LA Knight vs. Jey Uso – Chaos for a Cause

In one of the night's most anticipated matchups, CM Punk, LA Knight, and Jey Uso squared off in a triple threat match that had the entire WWE Universe on the edge of their seats. With championship implications and personal pride on the line, the three superstars threw everything they had at each other.

Check Out: Wrestlers with the Longest Combined Days as WWE Champion

CM Punk showcased his veteran instincts, manipulating key moments with well-timed counters and ring awareness. LA Knight's raw power and charisma were on full display, earning loud crowd reactions throughout the match. Meanwhile, Jey Uso's energy and agility kept him a constant threat from bell to bell.

The match reached a fever pitch when all three men traded signature moves, only to be interrupted by outside interference that left fans buzzing. The ending was controversial, leaving questions about who truly deserves the next title shot—and setting the stage for even more drama next week.

Seth Rollins Betrayed: Bron Breaker & Bronson Reed Join Forces?

In perhaps the most shocking moment of the night, Seth Rollins was blindsided by not one, but two rising stars—Bron Breaker and Bronson Reed. What began as a routine promo quickly turned into a savage beatdown, as both Breaker and Reed laid waste to the former world champion.

Fans were stunned by the unexpected partnership. Breaker's ruthless aggression paired with Reed's unstoppable strength created a dangerous new alliance that could shift the balance of power on Raw. As Rollins was left battered in the ring, the message was clear: no one is safe.

More Raw Highlights

- Becky Lynch sent a strong message to the women's division with a dominant victory, keeping her momentum alive heading into the next premium live event.
- The Judgment Day continued their mind games, teasing tension within the group even as they maintained control over the tag team scene.
- Cody Rhodes had a strong showing in a singles match, further solidifying his status as a top contender.

This week's WWE Raw was a perfect blend of storytelling and action—setting the tone for what promises to be an electrifying road ahead.

Related Article: WWE Raw Highlights