Australia continued their dominant run in the 2025 ICC Women's ODI World Cup, defeating South Africa in a thrilling encounter to seal the top spot in the group stage. The match, played in front of a packed crowd, showcased high-quality cricket from both sides – but it was Alana King's historic performance that stole the spotlight.

Alana King's Record-Breaking Spell

Leg-spinner Alana King was the star of the show, producing a spell that will be remembered for years. She picked up a stunning five-wicket haul, dismantling South Africa's middle order with her guile, control, and sharp turn. This performance not only earned her the Player of the Match award but also made her the first Australian woman to claim a five-for against South Africa in World Cup history. Her spell turned the game on its head just when South Africa seemed to be gaining momentum.

South Africa's Batting Falters Under Pressure

South Africa started steadily, with Laura Wolvaardt once again looking in fine touch at the top. However, after her dismissal, the batting unit crumbled against Australia's disciplined bowling attack. Despite brief resistance from Marizanne Kapp and Sune Luus, South Africa could only manage a below-par total that was never going to trouble the in-form Aussies.
