The ICC Women's World Cup 2025 continues to deliver thrilling encounters, and the clash between Sri Lanka Women (SL-W) and Bangladesh Women (BAN-W) promises to be no different. Both teams are looking to make a mark in the tournament, and this match could prove pivotal for their campaign momentum. Fans are eagerly anticipating an exciting contest filled with competitive cricket and standout individual performances.

Match Prediction

Bangladesh entered the game as favorites, thanks to their consistent form and dynamic batting lineup. With players like Nadine de Klerk and Fargana Hoque in good touch, they have the firepower to post a competitive total. Sri Lanka, however, cannot be underestimated. Chamari Athapaththu, known for her aggressive stroke play, can change the game in a matter of overs. If Sri Lanka's bowlers strike early and their middle order holds firm, they could create an upset.

Toss Result

The pitch is expected to favor batters initially but may assist spinners later in the innings. Captains might opt to bat first to set a target and put scoreboard pressure on the opposition, though chasing could also be tempting for the team confident in their chasing ability.
